- 2. The contention of the learned Counsel for the Petitioners is that this order fails to comply with the conditions of drawing proceedings u/s 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, as laid down u/s 111 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Neither the order nor the notice mentioned on what rounds the Magistrate was satisfied that there was apprehension of breach of peace.
- 3. In the notice there is recital-- whereas I am satisfied that there is apprehension of breach of peace at the instance of the 2nd party. Hence, I draw up proceedings u/s 107 Code of Criminal Procedure....

- 4. Thus apparently neither in the notice issued to the Petitioner nor in the order sheet there was any mention of the grounds of fact which led the Magistrate to be satisfied about the apprehension of breach of peace.
- 5. Section 111 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, states as follows:
- 111. When a Magistrate acting u/s 107, Section 108, Section 109, Section 110, deems it necessary, to require any person to show cause under such section, he shall make an order in writing, setting forth the substance of the information received, the amount of the bond to be executed, the term for which it is to be in force, and the number, character and class of sureties (if any) required.
- 6. It becomes clear from perusal of all the above that the Respondents are to be given notice of substance of information received against them and even the order which is made by the Magistrate about issuing show cause notice u/s 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is to specific mention in writing the reasons of satisfaction. So the facts had to be mentioned leading to the satisfactory reasons. The purpose is clear that the Respondents came to know why they are sought to be proceeded against a provision which puts restrictions on them in terms of the Bond sought.
- 7. It is unnecessary to refer specific to precedent on this provisions, as in a number of precedents the various courts, including this Court, has held that if reasons are not narrated in the order of drawing up proceedings, or in the notice issued to Respondents the same are illegal and the proceedings has to be quashed.
- 8. In this view of the matter. I quash the proceeding pending before the learned Executive Magistrate concerned. Petition is accordingly allowed.
- 9. Let a copy of this order be sent to the learned Executive Magistrate, Arambagh immediately.
